Many management consultants agree that the key to business success in the 21st century is the responsive organisation: an organisation which rapidly adapts to the challenges of a changing environment and who is responsive to its customers.

Business opportunities appear at any time in any place. In order to maximise the business potential of these opportunities, it is necessary to have ready access to the tools, services and information needs to complete your work.

Organisations need an IT infrastructure which can be rapidly adapted in response to different business requirements, which enables business change rather than constraining it.

The freedom to roam anywhere with your laptop, around a building or campus, or from one hot-spot to another, means that your employees can get the information where they need it, when they need it.

Using the latest generation of mobile phones and PDAs running Microsoft Windows Mobile operating system, you can now take your office on the road with you, allowing you to send and receive emails utilising the latest push-email technologies, work on documents and presentation using familiar Microsoft Office applications.

Security is of paramount importance. Organisation need to ensure that information is made available only to the people who are allowed access. Unfortunately, in today's busy world, PDAs and computers get lost or stolen, so safeguards need to be put in place to ensure that immediate action can be taken the minute a device has been compromised. We have teamed up with NetMotion wireless to provide a mobile security solution that is second to none!
